Four Women Hurt On Sharp Curve At Mountain Rest

Car Was Traveling Toward High Falls, Went Out of Control
on Curve

Four women were badly injured Tuesday evening on the Mountain Rest-High Falls road when a Chevrolet car operated by Mrs. Stella Jennings, 58, of 60 Union Place, Lynbrook, went out of control at a sharp curve and grade near one of the overpasses not far from Mountain Rest, Lake Mohonk. All four were taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, suffering from shock and other injuries.

The accident happened about 6 o'clock as the car was proceeding down the steep grade toward High Falls. State Trooper Seymour from Lake Mohonk barracks investigated the accident. No other car was involved. Those injured: Mrs. Jennings, driver, suffered multiple lacerations of the face and a fractured right arm.

Theresa Guertin, 52, same address, had a very severe injury to her eye and a fractured arm. Mrs. Rita Wright, 56, of 176 Randolph avenue, Jersey City, N. J., lacerations and contusions of the face. Mrs. Edna Gardiner, 46, of 176 Randolph avenue, Jersey City, N. J., lacerations of right ankle and left elbow injuries.

Makes 80-Foot Plunge So He Can Marry

Covington, Ky., Aug. 28 (AP)—An 80-foot plunge from an Ohio river bridge has won 17-year-old Billy Allen parental approval of his plans to marry teen-aged Ella Lindley.

Young Billy was recovering in a city hospital today from the shock of his Sunday leap into the Ohio river but he had consolation in the fact that he and 16-year-old Ella are to be married November 20, his 18th birthday.

Clarence C. Lindley, the girl's grandfather with whom she makes her home, announced yesterday that Billy's recovery was assured. "I talked with the boy's mother and we decided if it was serious enough for him to jump off the bridge, well, we'd better give our consent."

Billy jumped from the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad and later told rescuers he did it "because they wouldn't let Ella and me get married."

Mrs. Sally Allen, the boy's mother, said she and Ella's grandfather objected to the marriage "because the children are so young."

Travel to Dutchess Is Accelerated by Ferry Facilities

Bridge Authority Shows
Surprise at Traffic to Fair; Record
Is Expected

"We did not expect as much traffic on the ferry as we have been getting since the opening of the Dutchess County Fair in Rhinebeck," said an official of the New York State Bridge Authority this afternoon.

He said that no figures were available, but that on every trip across the Hudson river from Kingston this morning the ferry George Clinton carried 30 cars, and an average of 25 foot passengers on each trip.

During the four days of the fair, which opened Tuesday and closes Friday evening, ferry service is being maintained throughout the evening, the last ferry for Kingston leaving Rhinecliff at 11:30 o'clock each night.

Attendance at the fair on Tuesday was between 8,000 and 10,000. The official said he had made the trip across the river on the 11:20 o'clock ferry this morning, and at that time the ferry carried 32 cars, and he counted 38 cars which were left behind for the next trip.

The official said he had made the trip across the river on the 11:20 o'clock ferry this morning, and at that time the ferry carried 32 cars, and he counted 38 cars which were left behind for the next trip.

"We expect to have all figures shattered today in the number of both cars and foot passengers carried," said the official "since the ferry began operations on May 16."

Automobiles were lined up two abreast on Ferry street this morning waiting for the ferry. The line extended from the ferry terminal through Ferry street to the intersection of Broadway.

Dewey Speaks at Fair
Rhinebeck, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Governor Dewey makes his last pre-convention speaking appearance today at the Dutchess County Fair.

The governor, accompanied by Mrs. Dewey and their two sons, was not expected to announce his candidacy for renomination prior to the Republican state convention at Saratoga Springs next Tuesday and Wednesday. Mrs. Dewey was to present awards at the fair's flower show which was opened yesterday by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, chosen to be temporary chairman and keynote of the Democratic convention in Albany next week.

Council Stands Firm
Philadelphia, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Philadelphia C.I.O. Industrial Union Council stood firm today behind a ban on Communists.

Fascists and Nazis in union offices, but declined a suggestion that it undertake a campaign to "ferret them out" of the 75 Local union under its jurisdiction. The council's policy was reported in a statement by President Michael Harris following a two-hour executive board meeting yesterday during which a motion that it sponsor the local union drive was tabled.

Serious Fire Hits City
Lubbock, Tex., Aug. 28 (AP)—A fire that raged uncontrolled for more than four hours swept warehouses and grain-filled elevators of the Standard Milling Company here last night in one of the biggest fires in Lubbock's history. Walker Stanton, plant manager, estimated damage at $300,000. The company furnishes a substantial portion of stock foods for west Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Wyatt Asks Materials For Homes

Housing Expediter Is in Favor of Using Entire Output for Dwellings

Priorities Are Set
New Rulings Set Aside
Vast Supplies Under Percentages

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—The entire national output of hardwood flooring and millwork will be earmarked for home builders, if housing expediter Wilson Wyatt has his way, a subordinate disclosed today.

This proposal and other suggested controls on lumber were up for discussion at a meeting between housing officials and aides of John D. Small, the civilian production administrator.

Lumber, the most important building material, was not covered in a sweeping series of new government construction controls announced last night—including a 27 per cent cut in factory, store, school and other non-residential building.

Wyatt predicted the new actions will "transfer the materials housing expediter Wilson Wyatt has his way, a subordinate disclosed today."

Others construction and will help builders complete thousands of partly finished homes "before winter sets in."

Small joined Wyatt in announcing the actions. Ninety-five per cent of all bathtubs, 90 per cent of water closets and lavatories, 85 per cent of gypsum board and lath, and 75 per cent of more than 40 other materials must be set aside by manufacturers and dealers for sale only to holders of veterans' housing priorities.

This is effective September 1, Wyatt said, along with a big increase in the list of building materials subject to priority control.

Officials of the National Housing Agency described the priority rulings as more important than the cut in non-residential construction. The cut will show little effect for about two months, they said, but the priority and set-aside actions will increase immediately the amount of materials available for home building.

The National Association of Home Builders in a statement warned that "unless materials flow quickly, there will be 200,000 or 300,000 uncompleted houses standing around this winter, and veterans won't be any better off than today."

The association president, Joseph Meyerhoff of Baltimore, added that the new moves follow the lines "that we have been advocating all along."

The materials newly placed on the housing priority list include: Linoleum, rubber tile, asphalt and felt-base floor coverings; cooking stoves, heating stoves and space heaters; metal cabinets; gutters and down spouts; lighting fixtures; insect screen; metal weather stripping; oil burners and domestic stokers; plumbing fixture fittings; septic tanks; steel joists; oil and water storage tanks; water heaters; caulking lead; copper water tubing; metallic cable; residential-size steel and wrought iron pipe; stucco wire mesh; asbestos cement siding; shingles; cement boilers; concrete reinforcing bars; finishing lime; combustion controls for heating and hot water; raceway electrical conduit; structural shapes made of steel or aluminum; bituminized-fibre drain pipe and sewer pipe.

Woman Is Charged With Theft of Car

Shortly after midnight today Paula Sugarman of Woodstock reported to the state troopers at Lake Katrine that her Cadillac convertible coupe had been stolen from in front of the Woodstock diner. Troopers Rock and Bailey began an investigation and some time later they located the car in Woodstock and arrested Miss Dollyann Tillinghast of 208 Sullivan street, New York City, whom they found with the car. She was charged with grand larceny, second degree.

Taken before Justice of the Peace Fitzsimmons she was arraigned on the charge of grand larceny, second degree, and an adjournment of the matter was taken until 8 o'clock this evening.

Can Sell Property
if It Is Placed in Business Zone

The Emanuel Baptist Church property at 121 East Union street will be sold to the Canjan Manufacturing Co., Inc., manufacturers of parts for men's shoes, if the Common Council grants the petition of the congregation to have the property placed in the industrial zone, it was said last night by the Rev. Philip N. Saunders, pastor of the church, at the public hearing held by the laws and rules committee of the Common Council.

No one appeared to oppose the granting of the petition of the church, and Chairman Alderman Peter F. Simpson, informed the Rev. Mr. Saunders that the committee would meet later to act upon the petition.

As no opposition developed at the hearing it is expected that the committee will submit a favorable report. At the present time the church property is located in a residential zone.

May Employ 100

The New York concern has made an offer to the congregation to purchase the church, and that it planned to employ one hundred people when in full operation.

The church is the former barn of the old Newark Lime and Cement Co., and when it was taken over for church purposes some years ago the old stable was remodeled and renovated.

The pastor of the church informed the committee that the congregation were planning to

30 Take Exams For Fire Positions

Many Veterans Are Among
Group for City Jobs;
Other Exams Tonight

Thirty men, many of them veterans of World War 2, took the civil service examination for paid fireman, held at the high school last night by the Municipal Service Commission.

The examination was held for the purpose of preparing an eligible list from which the Board of Fire Commissioners could make appointments to the paid fire department.

The examination was in charge of a representative of the State Civil Service Commission. The state commission drew up the examination papers and will mark them.

This evening at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall a promotional examination for the post of captain and deputy fire chief of the Kingston Fire Department will be held.

This also is a state examination prepared by the state commission, which will mark the papers and announce the ratings made by those who take the test.

The members of the Municipal Civil Service Commission are Leonard Miller, president; Roderick Birch and George Dempsey, with Paul J. Kaman, Jr., as secretary.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Governor Dewey charges urgently needed housing construction in New York state is being "tragically delayed" by what he calls "impossible and impracticable" federal obstruction.

The governor, in a letter to Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small yesterday, asked immediate release of essential materials he said were needed to complete housing for 10,000 veterans and emergency educational facilities for 100,000 former servicemen.

Dewey protested against what he called a "triple priority" granted

Girl's Leg Taken Off Above Knee

Miss Dorothy Scherrieble, 14-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Scherrieble of High Falls, today had her left leg amputated above the knee at the Memorial Hospital in New York.

The girl is a student at the Myron J. Michael School and a member of the 4-H Club of High Falls.

Her friends may write her by addressing their letters to Room 640, Memorial Hospital, York avenue, at 68th street, New York.

Council Will Get Meter Ordinance On Next Tuesday

Alderman Frank Oulton Says Committee Is Ready to Give Its Report

A parking meter ordinance will be introduced at the meeting of the Common Council on Tuesday evening, September 3, together with a report from the committee which has been studying the parking meter question favoring the installation of more than 500 parking meters in the business districts of Kingston, it was said last night by Alderman Frank Oulton, chairman of the committee.

Alderman Oulton at the meeting of the Common Council on August 6 informed the members of the council that the parking meter committee would be ready to submit its report at the September meeting.

The report, according to Alderman Oulton, will designate the type of parking meter it is planned to install and also the location of the meters in the business districts of the city.

The meters, if the ordinance and report are adopted by the Common Council, will be installed for a six months, trial period.

Boston Black Market In Autos Reported

Boston, Aug. 28 (AP)—An automobile black market operating through New England and selling cars at prices up to $1,000 over ceilings was reported today by the O.P.A. regional office.

Enforcement Executive William B. Sleight, Jr., said that "an undercover investigation of the auto black market" in New England revealed "the same pattern" as the $100,000 black market racket in Leesville, S. C.

Sleight said "the ring is believed operating southward from Boston into Rhode Island and north from Boston into Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont."

Prices for 1946 automobiles, he said, range up to $2,600. Announcing that O.P.A. will bring "license suspension suits" to close businesses of such dealers, Sleight said that O.P.A. now has 10 criminal cases pending in New England against over-ceiling automobile violators.

He added that "no action will be taken against the purchasers of over-ceiling autos," and that buyers of new cars are being asked to report to O.P.A. details of their purchases.

Governor Dewey Criticizes Federal 'Obstruction' of State's Housing

ed the federal public housing administration for certain materials, declaring that as a result "the formerly pitifully small amount of materials reaching state housing project has now virtually ceased."

"This work—housing and educational projects—must be completed promptly," the governor wrote, adding:

"As governor of the state of New York, I am writing to you to protest, with all the strength at my command, this impossible and impracticable obstruction to state housing projects."

Dewey declared six emergency housing projects already had been completed and work on others

Program to Start at 8; Public Is Invited to Hear Speakers

One of the largest crowds ever assembled at the municipal auditorium is expected there tonight for the big labor rally promoted by members of the A.F.L. and C.I.O.

Samuel Doyle, president of the Ulster County Building Trades Council, a co-chairman in charge of arrangements, estimated that 3,000 would turn out for the rally.

The purpose of the event is to present speakers prominent in labor circles, including Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the late President, an outstanding orator and author in her own right.

Besides Mrs. Roosevelt, speakers scheduled to talk are:

The Rev. John M. Monaghan, Ph.D., pastor of the St. Margaret Mary Roman Catholic Church, Staten Island, formerly of the faculty at Fordham University.

Harold C. Hanover, secretary of the New York State Federation of Labor, representing the A.F.L.

Ralph O. Samuel of New York, special assistant to the general executive board, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, representing the C.I.O.

Mr. Samuel was not obtained until this morning, when it was announced that he would be available. He has been active in the labor picture in New York and Pennsylvania, since 1938, except during the war years when he served with an armored infantry unit in the E.T.O.

Doors of the auditorium will open at 7:15 o'clock and the program is to start at 8. A cordial invitation is extended to the public. Those desiring choice seats are advised to arrive early. For the benefit of late-comers, who may not gain entrance, a public address system will carry the messages of the speakers to those assembled outside.

Mayor William F. Edelmuth will deliver the address of welcome, Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, formerly of Temple Emanuel will introduce Mrs. Roosevelt and the Rev. William McDonald, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, will pronounce benediction.

Mrs. Mabel Fisher of Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, co-chairman of the rally with Samuel Doyle, told the press that Mrs. Roosevelt would arrive at the Rondout Creek bridge at 6 p. m. A police escort will direct her to the Governor Clinton Hotel where she will dine with the reception committee.

Participating in the rally are the following unions:

Ulster County Building Trades Council.

Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers.

Local 417, Ironworkers.

Local 571, Teachers Federation.

Local 461, Uniformed Firemen.

At Least 40 Vets Among 1,700 Who Enroll at K. H. S.

Some With 3 Years Service
Resume Their Studies;
Foreign-Born Pupils
Are Registered

Approximately 40 veterans whose studies were interrupted by World War 2, are among the 1,700 students who have registered for the fall term at Kingston High School, it was said today by James Tobin of the faculty, who is in charge of registration.

The city's schools will reopen on Tuesday, September 3, following the annual summer vacation period, and registration of students for both the M. J. Michael School and the high school will close at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mr. Tobin said that some of the G. I.'s who have enrolled to resume their interrupted studies have seen three years of service with the armed forces.

With approximately 1,700 students enrolled up to this morning at the high school, the M. J. Michael School shows a registration of approximately 650 students.

Among the students who have enrolled for the fall term at the high school is a Polish refugee boy, now living in the city, who spent 2 1/2 years in a Russian concentration camp. Another student is a German boy, now living in Phoenixia, who spent four years in a German concentration camp.

Two South American students have also registered at the high school for the fall term. One is a second year high school student, and the other a third year.

Mr. Tobin said that many of the rural students enrolling were planning to take up work in the school shop and in the home-making department, as well as to finish their high school course.

Denniston Is Hurt By Charging Bull

Supervisor Roy F. Denniston of Gardiner is recovering from injuries which he suffered some time ago when he was attacked by a bull which he was leading from the barn.

Mr. Denniston was knocked to the ground and had it not been for prompt assistance given by his hired man he probably would have been severely injured. He was severely mauled by the animal before aid came.

This was the second unfortunate accident to happen to Mr. Denniston this summer. While engaged in hay operations on his farm he had one hand badly injured and several fingers cut.

Six Projects Approved

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—Six construction projects in the metropolitan area with a total value of $381,750 were approved yesterday by the New York city urban construction committee of the city. Among those approved was one by Liberty Fabrics, 900 East 229th street, the Bronx, for a $60,000 manufacturing plant. The committee announced it denied applications for three projects with an estimated value of $805,000.

Protest Is Put Aside by President

First Meeting at Lake
Success Finds Lange Reminding Council of Applications

Asks Suggestion

Johnson Asks Council to Act Favorably on Applications

Lake Success, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Great Britain and the Netherlands clashed with Russia in the United Nations Security Council today over the validity of the Soviet Ukraine charges against Greece but the council postponed temporarily a decision on whether to hear the case.

Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, council president, reminded the arguing delegates that the council must meet a deadline tomorrow on the applications of nine nations for membership in the U.N. The delegates then agreed to hold the Ukrainian item on the provisional agenda in suspense until the membership question was concluded.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, protested against an attempt by Britain and the Netherlands to block consideration of the Ukrainian charges.

Britain and the Netherlands joined forces at the outset of the meeting, with the Russian delegate condemning the Ukraine charges as "unsubstantiated accusations" against two U.N. members.

As the council turned to the question of new members Lange read a letter from Siam which had just been handed to him asking that the Siamese application be held up until the Siamese-French Indochina territorial controversy had been settled. France had indicated in committee meetings that she would oppose the admission of Siam at present.

Asks Favorable Action
Herschel V. Johnson, United States delegate, proposed that the council recommend the admission of all eight remaining applicant states.

"If the United Nations is to be successful, no state can be left out of it any longer than necessary," he said.

Johnson's resolution listed the applicants as Albania, the Mongolian People's Republic, Afghanistan, Transjordan, Ireland, Portugal, Iceland and Sweden.

Plunging into controversy over adoption of the agenda shortly after meeting in their large council chamber in a converted war factory, the delegates heard Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, of Holland, say that the Council must not become a "sounding board."

"Such superficial presentation as we have before us is not enough," he said.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Great Britain, followed Van Kleffens with the statement that no attempt had been made to substantiate the Ukraine charges against Britain and Greece.

Commenting that the same case had been brought up at London last winter, he said, "I cannot see that this case affords any basis for Council discussion."

The argument over the Ukraine case delayed consideration of new members.

United States Delegate Herschel V. Johnson held in readiness a resolution calling for the acceptance of all nine applications for membership.

Council convened at 10:39 a. m. E.D.T. with Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, presiding. The green and beige chamber was filled for this first session in the home the United Nations hopes to occupy for three to five years.

The large chamber, with 385

UN Week for State

Dewey Sets Aside Sept.
22-28: Says Council
Best Human Hope

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—The week of September 22-28 has been proclaimed "United Nations Week" in New York state by Governor Dewey who called the United Nations "the best hope we have to save the human race from the inevitable destruction that will accompany atomic warfare."

Dewey's proclamation yesterday was issued in connection with the U.N.'s first general assembly meeting next month.

Durant Attorney Would Procure Special Hearing

Frankfurt, Aug. 28 (AP)—Counsel for Kathleen Nash Durant moved today for U. S. Supreme Court intervention in the $1,500,000 Kronberg jewel theft trial.

Lieut. Col. John S. Dwinell disclosed that an effort would be made in Washington to obtain a hearing before one of the high justices on his petition for immediate release of the Wac captain, accused of taking part in the theft of the Hesse crown jewels while she managed the army's billet in the Kronberg castle.

Dwinell told a reporter the court as a body had advised him no action could be taken until the end of the current recess October 7. He said, however, that hearings before an individual justice sometimes are granted.

The defense intends to argue that the defendant's constitutional rights were violated in her treatment by the men who arrested her and subsequently by the method of bringing the case to trial.

The prosecution neared the conclusion of its case at a half day session today, with expert testimony by a German jeweler, Heinrich Mercker. He inspected the jewel collection and appraised two diamond necklaces, a brooch and two strings of pearls at a total of more than $70,000.

Major Roy E. Grantham, chief prosecutor, indicated he would rest his case tomorrow.

The trial probably will be recessed for some days, attorneys said, until certain witnesses for the defense either are brought here or their statements obtained in the United States.

Gloria Swanson Hurt

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—Gloria Swanson, movie star, continued under physician's care today as she was treated for severe shock and bruises as a result of a collision yesterday on Long Island between a taxicab in which she was riding and another cab. At the home of Dr. Richard H. Hoffman, where she was taken for treatment, Mrs. Hoffman, a personal friend of the actress, said the full extent of her injuries could not yet be determined.

Tension With Poland Is Still Strong, Interchange Of Rebukes Would Show

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—An almost unprecedented exchange of "unofficial" diplomatic rebukes between Soviet-backed Poland and the United States provided fresh evidence today of mounting tension stemming from Russia's sphere of influence.

Even as a powerful American fleet rode in Mediterranean waters to underscore this country's acknowledged claim to first-hand interest in that part of the world there were these disquieting signposts:

The Polish embassy hurled a charge of "infringement into Poland's sovereign rights and interference with her internal affairs" as the result of an American note dealing with the forthcoming Polish elections.

The State Department promptly acknowledged the "interference." But it said the Polish objections were not valid, because the big three declarations of Yalta and Potsdam pledged this country, along with Great Britain and Russia, to guarantee free and unfettered elections in that war-torn country.

The manner of the entire exchange was highly unusual. Instead of a formal reply to the American note, the embassy issued its blast in the form of a press release. Similarly, the State Department's retort was provided by an anonymous "spokesman" who told a reporter he could not comment in detail, "because I was not given the courtesy of seeing a copy."

Secretary of War Patterson told a group of top War Department officials to formulate their defense plans "on the basis that there is and will be no adequate control" among nations of atomic energy.

Civilian Production Chief John D. Small told newsmen that despite the concentration on reconversion "we have never lost or dropped our system of industrial mobilization." Small added that it could be swung back into operation within 24 hours in the event of an emergency.

Good Will From Fleet

Theoretically, the American fleet rode through Mediterranean waters in a gesture of "good will," actually, however, the gun-bristling flotilla was sent there as evidence that United States diplomacy is armed.

Admiral Dewitt Ramsey, acting chief of naval operations, put it plainly when he told reporters: "We go where the State Department tells us."

At the same time State Department officials made it equally clear that the Mediterranean cruise could not be separated from diplomatic developments in that part of the world nor the American interest in their outcome.

These, primarily, are:

1. The Dardanelles, where Russia has demanded a share with Turkey in the military control of the straits. The United States, Britain, France and Turkey have voiced firm opposition.

2. Trieste, center of an acrimonious dispute over its future control between Yugoslavia and Russia on the one hand and the United States and Britain on the other. This dispute has been aggravated by Yugoslav attacks upon American planes.

The navy, in announcing that the aircraft carrier F.D.R. would visit Piraeus, the port of Athens, in early September, left a way open for a possible visit to a Turkish port. The navy said "visits to other Mediterranean ports may be made before the Franklin D. Roosevelt returns to home waters, but details are not yet available."

No Bum's Rush For Fala at Albany

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Fala got the bum's rush from a Maine hotel the other day, but they're rolling out the red rug for the Scottie and his mistress, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, at an Albany Hotel.

You will recall that Mrs. Roosevelt refused to stay at a Maine inn because it barred Fala.

But the former First Lady has the assurance of John J. Hyland, manager of the DeWitt Clinton Hotel here, that both she and her dog will be welcome when they check in Tuesday for the Democratic state convention.

Mrs. Roosevelt is the convention key note.

"Fala is an old friend of ours," Hyland said today. "We'll even lay in a special supply of dog biscuit."

The reservation lists the names of Mrs. Roosevelt and Fala.

Halsey Says It's Nobody's Business Where Fleet Goes

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—Fleet Admiral William F. ("Bull") Halsey, replying to reporters' questions about current deployment of U. S. warships, today said:

"It's nobody's damn business where we go. We will go anywhere we please."

The wartime commander of the third fleet made it clear that he did not mean that American ships could intrude into the coastal waters of any foreign country. He clarified, however, that the high seas are "free."

(The Moscow radio charged Monday that the Mediterranean cruise of an American task force was tied in with the Yugoslav-U. S. situation and that the United States was trying to put pressure on the Balkan nation with a show of naval strength.)

(The Communist Daily Worker in London today attacked the Mediterranean cruise as "a blatant example of gangster diplomacy" as well as Russian interests.)

Asked by reporters if he included the Mediterranean as an area that should be free to our ships without criticism, Halsey said emphatically, "anywhere at all."

A self-styled "traveling salesman" for the U. S., Halsey returned Saturday from a 28,000 mile air trip through Central and South America.

At his first meeting with reporters here since his return, the grizzled veteran of Pacific fighting said he favored more good will cruises of American ships.

Tomato Blight Is Affecting Large Area in the East

Farm Bureau Manager Says Ulster County Looks as Though It Will Be Hard Hit

Tomato blight continues to spread through the county, Albert Kurtz, Farm Bureau manager, reported today and the crop will be seriously affected. This "early tomato blight" is general throughout the east and has seriously affected the commercial tomato crop as well as the home gardens.

It has been reported from as far south as Pennsylvania and buyers of "green tomatoes" have become skeptical, not knowing to what extent the blight will affect green tomatoes before they become ripe.

The blight appears to thrive during seasons when there are cold nights with heavy dew and hot mid-day sun.

Late tomato crops continue to be affected by the blight and many local people have lost their entire crop of tomatoes. This type of disease usually strikes in August.

County Properties On Sale Thursday

120 parcels will be struck off to highest bidders; No Tax Redemptions

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the court house the first public auction of county owned property will be held at which time 120 parcels of property, owned by the county of Ulster, will be offered for sale to the highest bidder. The properties are located in the towns of Kingston, Hurley, Ulster and Esopus.

This is not the usual tax sale of properties for unpaid taxes but is a sale of properties which the county owns. One can later pay the taxes and take possession of the property as is the case where properties are bid in at a tax sale. The county, owner of the properties, will give a deed and the sales are all final sales.

The Board of Supervisors recently authorized the sale of county owned properties and directed that the sale be conducted under the direction of County Attorney Fred Stang, who will have charge of the sale Thursday. Earl Sweet will act as auctioneer and the premises will be struck off to the highest bidder.

Included in the auction sale are several fine building lots. The sale will be held in the court room.

Accord Farmer Is Attacked by Bull

William Knowels, Accord dairy farmer, suffered severe head and leg lacerations Monday morning when an 800-pound Guernsey bull tossed him against a barbed wire fence.

The attack happened at 6:30 in the morning as Knowels was on his way to milk the herd of cows. Seven stitches were required to close a wound in his leg and three to sew a gash on his head.

When called for help went unheeded. Mr. Knowels removed his belt and ran it through the ring in the bull's nose, thereby managing to subdue the animal.

Carnival Proceeds $3,800

Accord, Aug. 28 (AP)—The annual carnival held by the Accord Fire Co. was most successful, with proceeds amounting to approximately $3,800. This tops all previous years. The committee in charge is extending thanks to all those who in any way helped make this the best carnival of all.

Boy, 13, Will Go To Pittsburgh on Murder Warrant

Skeleton of Playmate Is Found in Cellar; He Tells of Playing 'Holdup Man'

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—Police Lt. Peter Connors arrived today from Pittsburgh and said he would return Charles Hazlett, 13, on a first degree murder warrant in connection with the New Year's eve death of the boy's playmate, Michael Gerrick, 12, whose skeleton was found in a Pittsburgh cellar.

Connors said he did not believe extradition proceedings would be required because "the boy wants to go back." He added that he planned to return on a plane leaving at 3:52 p. m. (E.D.T.).

The Hazlett boy, who has been visiting an aunt here during school vacation, was taken into custody yesterday at the request of Pittsburgh police after the skeleton of a house formerly occupied by the Hazletts.

Assistant Detective Chief Frank Nowakowski quoted the Hazlett boy last night as saying that he and "Mike" were playing "hold-up man" in the kitchen of the Hazlett home, two doors from the Gerrick home, New Year's eve using a .22 caliber rifle belonging to Hazlett's father.

Nowakowski said the Hazlett boy told Buffalo police the gun went off "some way or other" and the bullet struck Gerrick who mumbled "something like I'm dying" and fell to the floor.

According to Nowakowski's account, the Hazlett boy said he was "scared to death" and had tried to hide the body by dragging it into the cellar and putting it under some crates and baskets.

The skeleton of the Gerrick boy was found pinned down by a wooden box and a pile of debris, by Earl Lee, 29, who purchased the house in February and was cleaning out the cellar before installing a new furnace.

Young Hazlett was held without charge pending arrival of Lt. Peter A. Connors of the Pittsburgh police who was expected by plane today.

Foreign Ministers Council May Meet Tomorrow to Speed Work of Conference

Paris, Aug. 28 (AP)—The big four lined up solidly today against an Australian proposal for a special commission to investigate reparations claims while American sources predicted that the foreign ministers council would meet tomorrow in an effort to find means of speeding the work of the month-old 21-nation peace conference.

Willard Thorp, deputy assistant U. S. secretary of state, outlined the stand of the United States on the Australian reparations proposition and speakers from France and Britain concurred. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had fought the proposal for two days.

Chicago is the nation's largest railroad center, and is served by 22 trunk railroads.

15 Jamaicans Will Arrive Thursday

Additional Farm Workers Will Be Assigned to Fruit Growers

Fifteen additional Jamaicans laborers are expected to arrive in Ulster county Thursday and will be assigned to the fruit growing sections of the county by the Mid-Ulster Growers Co-operative. This will make a total of about 185 who have come to Ulster county this year. At present there are 142 located at Camp Hayden, Kerhonkson. Those who will arrive Thursday will be housed in private housing on the fruit farms.

The number of Jamaican laborers assigned to Ulster county this year is considerably greater than last year when the small crop of fruit did not require much of this type of labor. The banner year was in 1944 when about 350 of the Jamaicans were assigned to the county.

War Germs Overhang Moslem East; Palestine Is Worst

By JOSEPH C. GODWIN
Jerusalem, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Moslem world from Egypt to India appears to be harboring the germs of international war, with Palestine the focal point of greatest infection.

In ten months of travel and reporting in Iran, Iraq, Afghanistan, western India, Palestine and the Persian Gulf countries, I have seen only one spot of relative tranquility—tiny Afghanistan.

Political and religious conflicts and the stubborn Russian-British ideological tug-of-war pose constant threats everywhere. The Moslem League's "direct action" policy generally is credited with delaying Indian independence. Iran, torn by international strife and only recently freed of foreign troops, now sees new forces massing near her northern and southern frontiers.

A Delhi announcement said a brigade of Indian troops dispatched to Iraq was sent "to protect British and Indian interests in south Persian oil fields."

Blood has flowed in India, Iran and the Holy Land. British warships have anchored off Bahrain, Abadan and Haifa. As Afghanistan activated modernization plans officials claimed "complete friendly understanding with the great powers," but foreign observers said that the nation is not altogether free of fear of Russia and suspicion of her neighbors across the gun-studded Khyber Pass.

Predicts 'Military Action'

In Tehran a foreign diplomat said Russia was stationing troops along the frontier facing Iran. He predicted "military action" between the Iranian army and the Azerbaijan provincial army "within two weeks unless final agreement was effected with the Azerbaijan delegation now in Tehran."

Ghazi Mohammed's Kurdish tribesmen, quiet since the Azerbaijan conference two months ago, were reported by a foreign military observer as "unhappy" over their part in the negotiations.

"The Kurds," he said, "definitely are in the picture. The Iranian army fears they were dealing privately with the Russians." Kurdistan, he pointed out, might form a Russian corridor to the Turkish border and southward to the Persian Gulf.

In Jerusalem, a British officer said "watch the Iran-Iraq frontier during the next 15 days," but declined to elaborate. Rumors persisted at Basra that the British were arming Arabs. The Arab states from Iraq to Egypt were reported "fully supporting Palestinian Arabs in the move for an independent Arab nation."

Palestine Shows Most

Palestine provides the greatest visual evidence of spreading war potentialities. Acts of physical violence occur daily despite all out security regulations. Guns chatter in the night. Troops and policemen are wounded "accidentally."

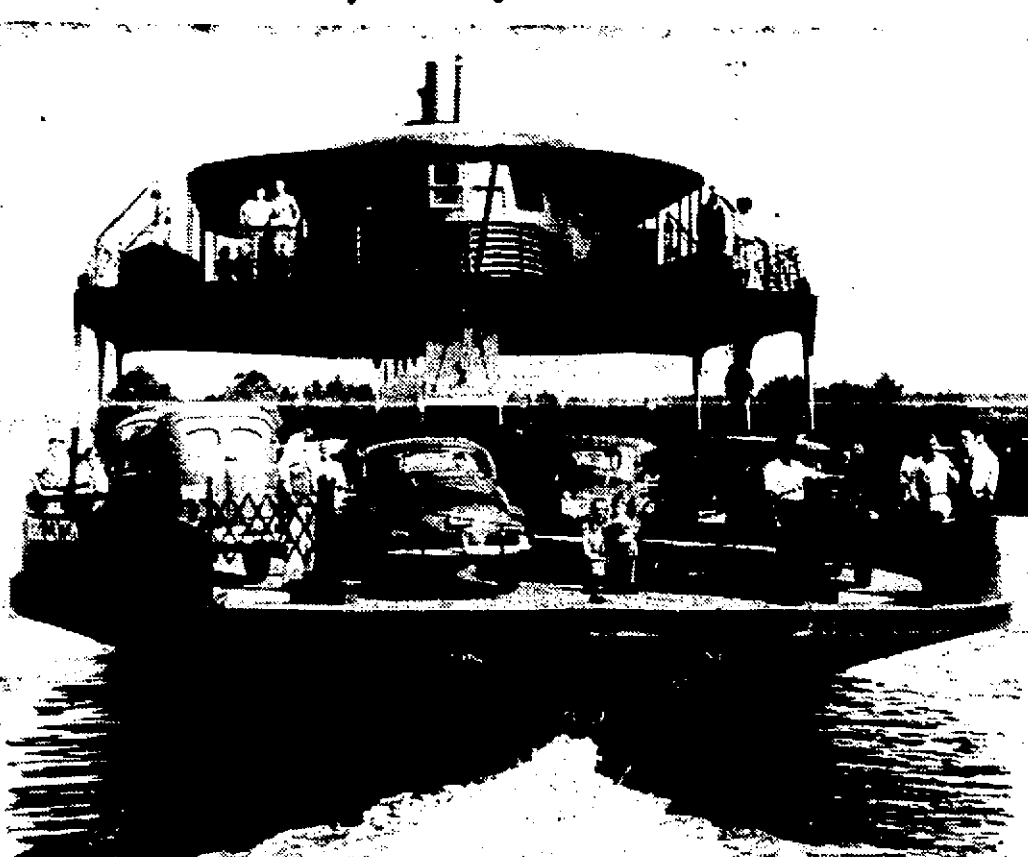

British residents complain of "the constant pressure of a feeling of hostility." A woman veteran of London's blitz days left a concert "because there are too many British uniforms present, who knows when terrorists may toss a bomb?"

Tanks and armored cars scurry between mazes of barbed wire and sandbagged pill boxes. Palestinian troops and tommygun-carrying M.P.'s patrol the streets 24 hours a day.

Jewish organizations continue to smuggle illegal immigrants into the country, aid in the escape of those detected, cache piles of arms and ammunition in farm colonies, and threaten violence if executions of convicted terrorists are carried out.

An Arab League leader said in an interview that he had no hope of settlement of the Palestine problem at the projected London conference and added that his organization was "backed by all the Arab states" in its demand for an independent Palestine under Arab rule.

Ferry Busy for Fair

The Kingston-Rhinebeck Ferry did a big business Tuesday, the opening day of the Dutchess county fair at Rhinebeck. Many residents from this side of the river were in attendance on the opening day and on several trips, the ferry had a capacity number of automobiles. The ferry is operating until 11 p. m., during the four days of the fair. State Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets C. Chester Dumond termed the event as one of the top fairs of the state in an address Tuesday officially opening the fair. (Freeman Photo)

SHOKAN

Shokan, Aug. 27—Mr. and Mrs. James Staunton have returned to Brooklyn following a three weeks vacation spent here.

An estimated 200 persons attended the Reformed Church fair and supper last Tuesday. Receipts from supper tickets and articles for sale in the booths totalled about $225.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Phillips of The Bronx, were callers at the Winchell farmhouse Saturday afternoon. The couple, who have been occasional visitors to this section for many years, were driving one of the new Hudson sedans.

Peter Brandel returned to Brooklyn Friday after having been at the E. Hansen home all summer.

Blackberries are now on their way out, after having been plentiful for the past three weeks. One elderly farmer has picked 60 quarts, mostly for winter use. This old timer says he has one favorite patch on his place where he is obliged to reach above his head to pick berries, also stop once in a while to "shake 'em off my hat."

August 26, 1913: Few buildings on the west side of Esopus creek in the old village remain standing—those not yet razed for reservoir clearance including the D. N. Mathews store and shed, the Isaac Davis house and the old "tin shop" along the Bakeman brook. . . B. W. S. police barracks have been opened in the Park House, formerly the Capt. Garrett O. House stone homestead.

Burial services for Leona Quick, 17, held at Krumville cemetery. She had been active in Lehigh Valley M. E. Church circles.

Shokan, Aug. 28—Mrs. Otis Wright of the north boulevard and granddaughter, Miss Jane Pfiffer, of Schenectady, have returned from a trip to Boston.

Mrs. Emily Hansen is spending some time in New York. Mrs. A. M. Dent, formerly Miss Annie McEvoy of Shokan, has been visiting old friends and relatives in this section.

There is a good crop of elderberries in wet pasture fields and along the brooks back of the village. Wild grapevines also are bearing heavily this year, but the fruit will not be ripe for several weeks.

Mrs. K. Lunden, who was severely injured in a roadside accident early in the summer, is now able to get around the house about as usual.

August 20, 1904, funeral services were held for James M. Loomis, one of several Civil War veterans residing in the old village at that time. Mr. Loomis joined the Shokan M. E. Church during the pastorate of the Rev. Lewis F. Piper. He and Mrs. Loomis made their home on the Brown's Station road for a number of years, later removing to the west side of the creek. Mr. Loomis was a grandfather of Mrs. Anthony Imperial of Kingston and Archie VanBenschoten of Mt. Marion.

Benjamin Werbalowsky was a business caller in the hub of the reservoir country last Friday. Mr. Werbalowsky's father began dealing with farmers in the upper Esopus valley more than 60 years ago. William Allen, who spent his summers here as a boy, was a week-end guest at the Harry Weeks tourist home.

Lester Lawrence, well known member of the maintenance force down at the reservoir center, has had an excellent paint job done on his Chevrolet sedan. Looks like a new car.

Camp Juvenile, near the Olive-Marbletown line, apparently is swarming with city boys and girls this year, judging by the number who hike through the village and get on and off the Pine Hill bus.

Eugene Isaaksen and Ralph Sandbo, who have been here all summer, made their second climb to the crest of High Point last week. The boys had a novel experience on their way up the mountain. They saw a partly grown black bear eating huckleberries and chased Bruin, Jr., for some distance but fortunately lost sight of the animal before it reached the mother bear. Old-timers are telling the boys that this was rather risky bravado on their part.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Staff of Kingston were callers recently at the summer home of Mrs. Kerdall Every.

Charles and Marvin Green have a good crop of sweet corn which is selling readily in the local market. Corn got off to a late start but was pushed along rapidly by the warm weather and frequent rains of the past few weeks. Corn is selling here at 50 cents a dozen on a "come and get it" basis.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Day, Jr., and baby of Brooklyn are spending a vacation with Mrs. Day's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Olson. Others at the Olson bungalow during the week-end included Algot Olson of Brooklyn and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Day, Sr., of Jersey City.

Among the hundreds of out of town motorists coming to the Ashokan reservoir country Sunday were Chris McGrath and fiancée, Miss Beatrice McCoy, both of Peekskill. Mr. McGrath, who has been employed at Camp Smith since leaving the army last October after five years of service, spent considerable vacation time in Shokan as a boy and has a number of friends here. He enlisted in the famed 69th Infantry Regiment and served with the 27th Division in both the Pacific and European theatres and with the 42nd Division in Europe.

Sixteenth century Spaniards were first to explore what is now Maryland.

Certificates Filed

John Caserta of Gardiner R. D. and Michael Parmentola of the same address have filed a certificate with the county clerk, stating they had discontinued the use of the name Shady Lawn Villa on Route 32, a half mile south of Modona in the town of Plattekill, and are now operating under the name of Shady Lawn House.

Antonio Rodriguez of 112 Downs street and Robert F. Schoonmaker of 121 Cedar street have filed a certificate with the county clerk stating they are doing business at 610 1/2 Broadway under the name and style of Central Restaurant and Bar Supplies Company.

Fireman Is Injured

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—A fireman was injured last night while fighting a two-alarm blaze in the one-story brick paint factory of the Amsterdam Color Works, Inc., at 1535 Basset street, the Bronx. Lt. Frank Lennihan, 33, of Engine Company 61, Williamsburg road and Silver street, the Bronx, suffered an injury to his right hip when he fell while directing his men inside the building.

WORLD CONSCIENCE

In the midst of disappointment at the slowness of the Paris peace conference, the pessimism about its outcome, and the feeling that perhaps the nations of the world are getting farther apart, instead of closer, comes a note of hope. Hal O'Flaherty, of the Chicago Daily News, seems to feel that certain principals of international justice are beginning to take hold of the group and assert themselves.

"There is a conscience in these international meetings that cannot be controlled," he writes. "It guides the minds of men of all races. Molotov cannot make this conference vote for his proposals when its conscience is against them."

The correspondent cites the example that Russia was unable to convince the Western World that seizure of the Dardanelles was justified for reasons of security. "The conscience of the Western World would revolt," he says.

That conscience finds expression in the words of Herbert Evatt, of Australia, advocating a Court of Human Rights. It finds expression in the words of Secretary Byrnes—"We can never achieve unanimity unless we show a respect for the opinions, the feelings, and the judgments of our allies."

If such a conscience for the rights of nations and the good of their peoples is respected, strengthened and permitted to guide decisions of the conference, the peace meetings will not be in vain, however long and laborious.

In Auburn, Ala., 93 surplus tubboat cabins obtained through the Maritime Commission are housing veterans at Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The cabins have plenty of look-out windows, but no harbor view.

THE UNCONSCIOUS ARSONIST

Arson is one of the most detested of all crimes. The law imposes extremely severe sentence on convicted firebugs. For, when a man deliberately starts a fire, he is imperiling lives, to say nothing of causing potentially great losses in property values.

There is another group which the law can't touch. These are the people who might be called "unconscious arsonists." That group includes a high proportion of the population.

The sin of the "unconscious arsonist" is that of omission, not commission. He doesn't purposely set a fire. He just fails to do the things that will prevent fire.

Have you, for example, ever put off "until tomorrow" fixing a frayed lamp cord? Have you let a slightly defective heating plant go, figuring it will last another month or so? Have you been careless in handling inflammables like gasoline, on the grounds that probably nothing will happen? Have you let old papers and other trash accumulate in closets and basements and attics because you don't feel like carting it down to the junkman?

These are typical examples of "unconscious arson." And the man who can answer "No" to all the questions is a rarity indeed. The hundreds of millions of dollars of property destroyed annually by fire are a dubious tribute to the indifference of otherwise good citizens. So is the fact that fire loss is showing an alarming increase at the present time. Do your part, in your home and business, and fire can be licked—and the lives and dollars it destroys will be saved.

There's still debate as to whether knowing the official pollen count makes hay fever sufferers feel better or worse.

EXTORTION IN CUBA

The wealthy men of Cuba are finding their wealth coveted and their lives in danger. One after another, manufacturers, exporters and high government officials have received warning to hand over $25,000 in protection money. 'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

PROPOSED: THOUGHT MONOPOLY

James M. Cain, novelist, has proposed a one-man American Author's Authority that is to own the copyright of all that is written in the United States and that is to refuse to provide periodicals, radio, screen or any other form of publication the right to publish the works of its writers if they publish anything written by anyone who declines to accept the monopoly.

In his introduction to this brilliant proposal to police and regiment American thought by one man, Mr. Cain says:

"It would be difficult to exaggerate the night of the American writer, or of any writer whose works are sold in the United States today."

I suppose Mr. Cain refers to the screen writers—to those Executive Board he presented his idea—who earn between $750 and $5,000 a week or to magazine writers who receive tens of thousands of dollars for serial rights for their stories. Whether he means them or the writer who is trying to break in on his personal assumption that he has something to say—an assumption not yet tested—Mr. Cain's own concept of his one-man authority appears in these words:

"The authority will then say 'We shall copyright for assignment no works except from writers who have become members of the proper guild.' This will take care of the outlaw contributor who became so menacing to ASCAP at the time of its fight with the radio studios. It will also say we shall lease no rights except to persons who comply with the basic agreements of the guilds. The Screen Writers' Guild and the Radio Writers' Guild will say, 'We shall permit our writers to work on no material not leased through the Authority, and this will compel every writer in the country and the world to come to the Authority for the right to work for pictures or magazine sale to send his work to the Authority for copyright before the magazine or publishers get it.'"

In a word, what Caesar Petrillo has done to music, Cain would do to thought and its expression. But the difference lies in this: civilization might survive a strike of saxophone players but could civilization survive if Mr. Cain refused to permit a writer to be published because he personally disagreed with the ideas and their expression? Even the government of the United States is prohibited from doing just that by the Constitution.

What Mr. Cain proposes is a device to get around the Constitution. He says, in effect, to a magazine editor: "You want to print Webster Pegler. All right. You can do it if you like. But Pegler declines to submit to our Authority. Therefore, if you publish Pegler, you may never publish, if they join us, Clarence Budington Kelland, Lloyd C. Douglas, Ellery Queen, Dashiell Hammett, Frances Parkinson Keyes, Walter Davenport, Fulton Oursler, Octavus Roy Cohen and Joe Donkos. We own them. You keep Pegler out or we keep everybody out."

The ninth point in the program is the most exciting one:

"9. Fight, on all fronts and in every way, to promote, not the writer's financial advantage, or his reputation, or the conditions under which he works, matters at present the concern of existing organizations, but his RIGHTS."

But the most important right of an author is self-expression, to say what he pleases, in any way he pleases, to be wise or foolish, to be sane or stupid, or to be like Albert Einstein or Gertrude Stein, to speak the truth as he sees it, against all the world, one man standing alone, if necessary.

A writer is not a drummer. He is a creative person with something in his mind and heart, as willing to risk the garret as to accept the emoluments and plaudits that come to him for his work. Maybe it is the preoccupation with rights and deals that has reduced American literature to its current vulgarity.

Edgar Allan Poe, Nathaniel Hawthorne, or Mark Twain or any of our giants did not recognize any Authority. They wrote and their words changed America. Their words and their ideas changed America.

Unfortunately, Mr. Cain has not thought his problem out. The author of "The Postman Always Rings Twice" would not himself submit to an Authority if he realized fully the consequences of such an institution.

IT PAYS TO TRAIN HEART

There is no question but that boys and girls and young men and women who engage in group games not only get much enjoyment but are building up for themselves a healthy heart, strong lungs, and elastic blood vessels, all of which keep them much younger in body than those who do not engage in games.

While many young men and women do not continue games or regular exercise as they grow older, fortunately this regular early training pays dividends in after years enabling them to fight disease and ward off heart and head strokes.

For those who have not engaged in games or taken exercise, and also for those who have formerly done so, simple exercise such as walking, swimming and golf, will help to keep heart, lungs, and blood vessels in a young or "elastic" condition. An editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association reports the physical examination of the great Swedish runners Gunder Hagg and Arne Anderson both holders of world records in long distance running. The outstanding condition found was a high stroke volume of the heart, and a greater heart volume at rest. Hagg's examination revealed an elastic heart and a very quick recovery to normal heart beat after strenuous exercise. In the case of Anderson the heart rate went up to as high as 188 beats per minute and in both Hagg and Anderson the heart rate, blood pressure, and rate of breathing, were all back to normal in a very short time. In other words training keeps the muscle fibers in heart, lungs and blood vessels in an elastic or "youthful" condition.

I have examined many of the outstanding athletes in boxing, wrestling, swimming, football, track athletes, and the outstanding finding is this: youthful condition—heart slow and strong, breathing slow and strong, blood pressure slightly below normal. These organs are all so efficient that they do not have to work as often or as hard because they have been trained.

HIGHLAND

Highland, Aug. 27—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mellor are entertaining her sister, Mrs. Fred Warren, Portsmouth, N. H. and Mr. Mellor's niece, Miss Ruth Mellor, Utica.

A turkey dinner preceded the meeting of the Lions Club Monday night at Blossom Farm Inn. With president John Bruckelacher presiding, the subject of a resort folder for next year was discussed and Glenn Clarke, Stanley Lester and John Mack were appointed to prepare one similar to that of this year with new cuts and to be printed in green. The project of installing a skating rink on the school grounds was left with secretary, Webster Langdon, to take the matter up with the school board. William Haviland, Dr. Victor Salvatore and Irving Langdon were named to consult with the Lloyd town board relative to damming up the brook which runs through the park, for a wading pool. This also would be available in case of fires. Walter F. Seaman told of his talk with Asa Rushnell, chairman of the regatta committee, relative to the college regatta coming back to Highland. Mr. Seaman informed the chairman that the Lions Club, town board and citizens would cooperate with the committee should the regatta return to the Highland. William Haviland reported that new lights are being installed at the bridge circle where many accidents have happened. Present were 19 members and Milo Wadlin, a guest of Assemblyman Wadlin.

William J. Upright and Albert Lester are spending part of this week with Fred Strever on Lake George. Mr. Strever is dog editor of the National Sportsman.

At Century's Turn

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

I have attended many banquets in the 35 years I have been recording the history of Kingston, but I never attended one where such a variety of foods was served as at the annual banquet of the old Board of Trade on February 21, 1900, in the Mansion House, at Broadway and Strand.

It was too young to attend the affair but I have just been reading an old clipping from The Freeman which gave the menu served that night.

The banquet as usual started off with blue points on the half shell, which was followed by soup. Among the dishes served the guests were Kennebec salmon, Vermont turkey with chestnut dressing, broiled snipe, sweet potatoes, a salad or two, hashed brown potatoes and fried sweet potatoes, and punch, coffee, cigars, and various other items I have forgotten.

That to me was a banquet that was a banquet.

According to the newspaper story of the event it was attended by more than a hundred of the leading professional and business men of the city, and the Kingston Opera House orchestra rendered a musical program, while William Burdette, a well known humorist, entertained between the various speeches with a number of funny stories.

Fall Protection of Your Favorite Trees

By DEAN HALIDAY

Released by Central Press Association

NEARLY every home gardener has a favorite tree or trees, a fine old maple or an evergreen or a grouping of them. Fall is the time to inspect them for signs of disease or enemy pests.

There are many leaf-spots or leaf diseases of maple trees. All of them are caused by the attacks of fungi.

One of the leaf diseases of maples most easily detected is that called tar-leaf. The appearance of this disease on a maple leaf is illustrated in the accompanying Garden Graph. Tar-leafspot is most frequently found on red, silver and cut-leaf maples.

The spots are a light green color at first, then they turn black and become raised like a blister. The following spring the black fungus spots burst open and the spores are carried by the wind to the new foliage which they quickly infect.

'Lost Summer' Is Title Suggested for This Period in Which Reconversion Has Been Neglected

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 28—This may become known at some future time as "the lost summer." For this was the period when the presence of President Truman and Congress was most needed in Washington. Instead Congress and the administration decided on a holiday, and the nation's most important task—reconversion from war to a peacetime economy—has been neglected.

Nobody begrudges anybody who is tired or fatigued a chance for rest. But the Congress and the President didn't agree on the recession just to get a rest. Their reason was to get a chance to handle the political campaigns and preparations for elections.

Almost everybody in Washington has grown so accustomed to excusing politicians when they want to play politics that it is natural to speak of how tired and worn out our officials and elected officers happen to be. Actually men in business and men in the ranks of labor do not get such long vacations with pay. The business of the nation is no exception to the rule which requires fidelity to the job.

If these were normal times, a long recess of Congress would be justified. But these are not normal times, and what was neglected this summer can show up in another twelve to eighteen months in a severe decline in business and employment.

The administration and Congress have run away from their responsibilities, and the strangest part of it is that the country does not seem to have pressed any particular protest. Possibly it is because the people as a whole are not aware of the economic dangers which face them in the next few years and of the imperative need of action in 1948 to prevent the damage which will have been done by 1947 and 1948.

The problems which are most acute relate to the distribution of materials and the fixing of wages and prices. The American economy is today rudderless. Even the so-called liberals who used to argue for economic planning have abandoned their fight, and now it is every group for itself and no consideration is given to the impact of any group's demands on the whole economic system.

The price problem was not solved by Congress or the administration. The labor problem was scuttled by the President. After declaring to the joint session of Congress last May that he wanted a study made to improve labor-management relations, Mr. Truman never made another public statement or pressed for the settlement of that question. Likewise the President told the country that in vetoing the Case bill he knew the nation was not facing a choice between that bill or no legislation. Yet that is exactly what happened, and the President never made the slightest effort to get any other legislation passed.

As a consequence, collectivists are thriving inside the American labor movement and the laws of Congress which should be placed on the basis of a fair deal for labor management and labor are helping the collectivists.

The immediate consequence of the failure to remedy the labor laws is to create more and more monopolies. The labor unions, with their closed shops and are using it on manpower and are using it. The big industries have a virtually monopolistic position because they need have no fear of growing competitors. All the anti-trust laws in the world will not restore competition when small businesses are forced to liquidate because big unions impose nationwide or industrywide scales on companies which do not have enough volume of business to compete with the larger units and pay the high costs.

The days of free competition in America are numbered. An actual alliance between big unions and big business could not deal any more severely with the smaller businesses than the labor unions have with their misuse of the collective bargaining power. More than 500,000 businesses were forced to liquidate in the war years, but many of them cannot be brought into production because they cannot operate at a profit with the present wage rates and in some instances with the present price ceilings.

This summer afforded an opportunity for Congress to restore competition in America by removing the barriers of monopoly which have been restraining the growth of small businesses. But Congress voted itself an increase in pay, adjourned and the President went fishing. Within the next two years the effects of this loss of time will become manifest in an economic crisis of major proportions. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

THE FAVOR IS TO WHOM? The poison of anti-Semitism all over Europe. It may be a Congressional investigation or an election to stop it and prevent a serious boomerang.

LaGuardia, head of U.N.R.R.A. added fuel to the fire last week trying to make political capital of the situation at a time when he is being booed for the U. S. Senate from New York to succeed Mead, by relieving Lieut. Gen. Frederick Morgan as chief of U.N.R.R.A.'s DP problem in Germany. Morgan had incurred the ill will of the central Committee of Liberated Jews in our German zone by stating publicly what everybody knew—that there was organized smuggling of Jews into our zone. LaGuardia also took a slap at General McNamery in this same connection.

A Congressional investigation or an election may also be the only answer to illegal entry of alien refugees into the United States. The director of one of the departments of the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization told me a few days ago that at least 200 aliens are illegally crossing our borders daily, guards pick them up and setting them back across the line. This official, for some reason unknown to me, scorned the idea that any alien European refugees—despite the tens of thousands now in Mexico—could be among the infiltrators; yet rumors of illegal entry of such aliens in large numbers carrying rolls of U. S. bills, circulate in increasing volume, and an attorney for the government as well as ex-intelligence officers assure me the rumors are not without foundation.

I have not succeeded in getting an estimate of their number from the Immigration and Naturalization Service in Washington. T. B. Shoemaker, acting commissioner, stating in reply to my wire, "I am unable to give you an estimate of the number of alien refugees entering the United States illegally."

As Westbrook Pegler recently pointed out, $80,000 admittedly had come in, under some semblance of legality, up to 1943—these persons admitted after being "screened" to suit the intellectual and political taste of New Deal screens.

Lee Hills recently cabled the Chicago Daily News that the mass exodus of the remnants of the Jewish race in Europe into the American occupied zone of Germany is "the first step in attempted flight to Palestine or the United States, while the Gaelic American of July 27 explains how American officials are angering other nations by abusing immigration quotas.

The quota for Ireland, for instance, is 17,000 Irish per year. But when Irish people "try to join their relatives in America," reports the Gaelic American, "they are informed by New Deal diplomats in Dublin that the quota has been filled. . . . They (our diplomats) have their own formula for admitting emigrants, regardless of Congress. The refugees of Europe have been sent to Dublin. After living there a couple of weeks they are sent to the United States, because of preference by American diplomatic officials."

Similar discrimination is angering other nations and spreading

Justice Branch Investigates Way Buying Is Done

Identical Bids, Monopoly Practices by Various Agencies to Get Airing

Washington, Aug. 28 (P)—The Justice Department said today it is investigating identical bidding and monopoly practices in the sale of many products bought in vast quantities by federal, state and city governments.

An official fully acquainted with the inquiry declined to specify the items involved but said they are products essential to government operations and to public health and safety.

Presumably the list might include such things as motor vehicles, electrical equipment and building materials, although it was emphasized that not all manufacturers or dealers in any one product are suspected of illicit practices.

The department official told a reporter the investigation is being conducted by the anti-trust division.

The probe stemmed from complaints of identical bidding, he said, adding that agents who followed up those complaints uncovered evidence of alleged conspiracies and monopolies in the sale of many items.

"The anti-trust actions already have been filed as a result of the preliminary inquiry and others probably will follow soon," the official said.

He declared that the investigation has uncovered such practices as:

Lowering of bids in areas of tough competition. When price slashes have eliminated competition, bids have been hiked back to higher levels.

Rotating of bids among companies.

Allocating cities to one company exclusively.

Identical bidding, or bids in which identical figures appear so frequently as to suggest collusion.

Buying out of small companies to eliminate competition.

The official said the department already has moved in two fronts to eliminate certain of the alleged abuses.

Five corporations and six individuals were indicted last month on charges of conspiring to restrain and monopolize the stencil duplicating industry.

Another suit has been filed against a single company charging an effort to monopolize the market in specialty business forms which city, state and federal governments buy in large quantities.

Annulment Granted
Following a hearing before Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein in special term at Albany August 9, Justice Bookstein on August 19 rendered an interlocutory decree annulling the marriage of Geraldine Daggs of Napanoch to William D. The couple were married at Los Vegas, Nevada, March 13, 1944. Koopman and Koopman of Ellenville represented Mrs. Daggs.

Porter Will Insist On Ceiling Prices For Dairy Products

Predicts Costs Will Get 'Out of Hand'; Dairy Head Says Control May Cut Output

New York, Aug. 28, (P)—An O.P.A. fight for restoration of ceilings on fluid milk and dairy products at the June 30 level was indicated today as Paul A. Porter, national head of the price agency, predicted that dairy prices soon will get out of hand.

He told 2,000 paid and volunteer O.P.A. personnel at a rally here yesterday that he was disappointed the new independent price control board, under the standards imposed by Congress with regard to existing factors, did not put price control on those items.

"It is my prediction that dairy prices will get out of hand," he said, adding: "I will insist at my earliest possible opportunity that fluid milk and dairy products again be put under ceiling prices."

He said he would ask for subsidies for fluid milk.

O.P.A. officials said in Washington that ceiling prices on milk and dairy products could be returned only by the Decontrol Board and that O.P.A. only has power to recommend to the board restoration of such ceilings.

Chairman Roy L. Thompson said when the board recently allowed milk and dairy products to remain free of ceilings after August 21 that the body would watch milk prices carefully and would clamp on ceilings again if these prices got out of line.

In Chicago, Owen M. Richards, manager of the American Dairy Association, commenting on Porter's statement, said that restoring price ceilings on fluid milk and dairy products "will encourage black marketing and stymie production."

Porter also predicted a shortage in meat in the latter part of September and the beginning of October and said "and you and I know who will get the blame for it."

"We are going to be misrepresented in this meat thing," he added. "But there is no principle in government by which price control can bring a two-year-old steer to market in less than the time God set down for it."

C.A.A. to Meet Thursday Night At K. of C. Hall

Plans for Bowling Loop Will Be Discussed; Full Attendance Urged by Gilday

There will be an important meeting of the board of governors of the Catholic Athletic Association for the purpose of planning events for the coming fall and winter seasons at the Knights of Columbus reception rooms on Broadway Thursday evening starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Leo Schupp, secretary of the C.A.A. said this morning that the organization's bowling committee had engaged the Central Recreation alleys for Wednesday evenings this year and that the games would be rolled at 7 o'clock sharp.

It is expected that the C.A.A. Bowling League will get underway Wednesday, September 11.

President Andrew Gilday urges all captains and managers of the softball league to attend Thursday's session also as important matters relevant to the loop will be discussed. At the present time efforts are being made by Secretary Schupp through Harry Edson, recreation secretary, to arrange a softball championship for the city between winners of the Federation and the Catholic A.A. sponsored leagues.

C.A.A. Softball Game
All players of the St. Mary's softball team are requested to report no later than 6 o'clock at Hasbrouck Park Thursday night for the important game with St. Peter's.

"How's This for Size?"

You know it is a good shoe—it bears a familiar and respected brand name. But that alone is not enough. Will it fit you?

So, before you buy, you "try it for size"... you make sure it is exactly what you need.

This same common sense rule applies to investment in securities!

If you are an investor seeking productive employment of your savings, you must choose from many hundreds of security issues, of widely varying types, prices and quality. Nothing could be more certain than that some of these securities will fit your needs... and that others will not.

In making your decisions, you can apply the same simple test you use in buying anything else you need—the test of facts.

This Exchange, the nation's foremost market place for securities, urges you to get the facts before buying or selling any security—whether it is listed on an organized Exchange or not, whether it is newly issued or long "seasoned." Get the facts... and study them in the light of your own financial requirements.

The rule of "try it for size" makes good sense for all investments—in securities or in any other form of property.

FACTS ARE AVAILABLE

Over the years, this Exchange has sought to increase the amount of information available to the investor. One example: when a company lists its securities here, it first agrees to report, regularly, the facts necessary to an informed investment decision. These facts can be had—it is unnecessary, as well as unwise, to rely on tips or rumors when buying and selling securities.

Smell of Dead Japs Still Is Noticed Around Manila

City Is Shabby, Unhappy as It Awaits Work to Revive Most of Its Facilities

By JOHN R. WARD
Manila, Aug. 28 (P)—The smell of the dead—Japanese dead—still hangs over Manila one year after the empire for which they fought with such fanaticism crashed in defeat.

The dead lie in the rubble of the once-beautiful city and those gaunt ruins symbolize what slow progress the independent Philippines has made on the long weary road back from war.

You see the same said ruins in the larger cities elsewhere in the ravaged islands—Davao, Cebu, Iloilo, Cagayan and Baguio. Bailey Bridges which the army engineers threw across the Pasig river when the First Cavalry and 37th Infantry Divisions stormed the city still carry the burden of Manila traffic. No attempt has been made to replace them.

Manila harbor, in which the hulks of sunken ships may still be seen, is jammed with vessels swinging at anchor waiting to be unloaded at inadequate docks by inadequate dockhands.

The government says it cannot begin reconstruction until the money is advanced by the United States. The Senate, however, defeated an attempt last year to get on with the work by floating reconstruction bonds.

Shabby and Unhappy
Against the background of war's destruction—the streets and alleys heaped high with rusting metal and rubble-infested by hordes of rats—Manila is shabby and unhappy.

Almost every adult male, including the president, members of his cabinet, legislators and government officials, wear U. S. Army khaki.

The streets swarm with ragged urchins. Make-shift shops jam down Manila, most of them featuring goods which came from or were destined for army post exchanges.

There is guerrilla warfare outside the city, where the armed peasants clash with the government's military police. This unrest outside is reflected inside Manila. The "Rice Bowl" is out there and rice rationing has returned to the city.

There is a rising crime wave. Thefts and burglaries have been commonplace and now the incidence of shootings, stabbings and holdups is increasing.

That is Manila one year after.

PEACEFUL SURROUNDINGS

Crown Prince Wilhelm (above), 63, son of the former Kaiser Wilhelm II, and head of the Hohenzollern family, relaxes on his estate, five miles from Heckeningen, Germany, with his dog. Stripped of all the Hohenzollern vast farms and properties, with the exception of his estate near Heckeningen, by the Russian land reform in Silesia, Pomerania and Brandenburg, the prince is looking for a farm where he can settle down.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By EDWIN SHANKE
(For Hal Boyle)

Heckeningen, Germany, Aug. 28 (P)—Crown Prince Wilhelm, son of former Kaiser Wilhelm II and head of the Hohenzollern family which once owned almost limitless estates, is looking for a farm where he can settle down.

The Russian land reform in Silesia, Pomerania and Brandenburg has stripped the Hohenzollerns of all their vast farms and properties and left them with only an 80-room castle, a museum piece balanced on the crown of a high hill five miles from here.

"It is too impractical to live in," the crown prince said, and then smilingly added:

"A young American officer who visited it, as do many American soldiers, offered to take it off my hands for a good price but I told him there wasn't enough money in the world to buy it."

While on the lookout for a farm, possibly in Bavaria, the crown prince is living in a rented villa in this French occupied town, within sight of his castle called Burg Hohenzollern. About 100 years old, it is the third fortified castle built there by the Hohenzollerns.

Prince Wilhelm said he was concerned about the younger generation of Hohenzollerns.

His wife, Hermine, is living with their second son, Prince Louis Ferdinand, his wife, Princess Kira, and their six children at Bad Kissingen. Another son, Hubertus, is living at Buedingen. Prince Frederick is in England. The crown prince's first son was killed early in the war.

"You know, the princes should take up some kind of employment," Crown Prince Wilhelm said. "Their position for the present is a difficult one because they all have been brought up as soldiers and haven't learned a profession."

"Hubertus has studied agriculture, however, and he also is looking for a farm to operate."

The crown prince said that Prince Louis Ferdinand, who once worked for Henry Ford and has thought about trying to go to America to make a new start.

Admitting that the question of finances was a problem now that he had lost his lands, the crown prince said he intended "to fight hard" for a reimbursement on the estates in eastern Germany which are being parcelled out to peasants under the Russian sponsored land reform—a farming policy which he predicted would not work.

"The peasants haven't the capital or the machinery to produce enough to feed the cities as did the old-fashioned, big estates," he said.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Long Beach, N. Y., Aug. 28 (P)—Edward J. Blesch and William R. Haviland looked up from their rowboat about 500 yards offshore yesterday and saw a small sea-plane descending. They dived into the water and the plane wedged a pontoon in their boat.

After a powerboat disengaged the plane, Blesch and Haviland hauled out of the water and rowed back to shore.

Alfred Clement, pilot, said he was practicing takeoffs and landings.

Where's the Fire?

Alhambra, Calif., Aug. 28 (P)—Fire broke out in the living room of Willard Strain's house.

Passerby shattered a window and fought it with a garden hose. The fire department arrived, sirens screaming, and finished the job; then firemen clumped through the house to make sure the blaze was out.

That was when strain woke up and asked what was up.

A Stirred Life?

Salt Lake City, Aug. 28 (P)—In the "molecular age,"—runnerup to the atomic age—chicken feathers may become midday's evening gown.

Rotary Club members were given a glimpse of molecular possibilities by Dr. Henry Eyring, dean of the University of Utah Graduate School of Chemistry and former director of fiber research at Princeton University.

Just chuck feathers, milk, peanuts or any other substance with "long" molecules into a spinner, mix well with air and spin into fabric, Eyring said, adding that the work is experimental and not economically practical.

Home Cooking

Seattle, Aug. 28 (P)—Members of the first American party to scale Alaska's formidable Mt. St. Elias said their most enjoyable meal of the two-month expedition was four apple pies dropped by an airplane.

"They were packed in sawdust in wooden boxes," said Cornelius Molenaar, 25, of Los Angeles, who returned here with his brother, Dec, while four other climbers remained in Alaska.

"When we opened them, we found a note saying:—

Greek Situation Complicated By Departure of Rodionov

Athens, Aug. 28 (AP)—The impending departure of K. K. Rodionov, Russian ambassador to Greece, complicated the diplomatic situation in which this nation found itself today on the eve of a plebiscite expected to return King George II to his throne.

Rodionov applied to the government last night for a visa enabling him to leave the country, thus capping a week of diplomatic developments, including the departure of Isador Cankar, Yugoslav ambassador to Greece, a formal charge by the Ukraine against Greece before the United Nations Security Council, and the forthcoming visit of a U. S. naval force.

The unexpected announcement of Rodionov's departure with his family was made without any official explanation, but Left Wing Circles said his presence in Greece during Sunday's plebiscite and the almost certain return of the King would be incompatible with the Soviet position on the Greek regime.

An attack at the Soviet embassy said that a charge d'affaires would remain in charge there during Rodionov's absence. He declined to say whether Rodionov had been recalled by Moscow.

The Greek foreign office said nomination of a charge d'affaires would be interpreted as meaning that no break in diplomatic relations between Russia and Greece was intended by Rodionov's departure.

Fleet Seen As Support
The announcement that the United States was sending the mighty carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, a cruiser and several destroyers to call at Greek ports was regarded here as a conclusive indication of U. S. support for Greece in the current diplomatic tussle.

Stephanos Stephanopoulos, the acting foreign minister, said Rodionov had requested exit visas for himself, his wife and daughter, but had not requested return visas. Only the day before, Stephanopoulos said Rodionov had complained about anti-Soviet articles in Greek newspapers and the banning of Russian motion pictures in some districts.

Two editors of a Royalist newspaper were convicted last night of publishing what the court termed libelous statements about Russia and Generalissimo Stalin. Both were sentenced to seven months in jail on the charges, which were instituted by the government.

When Marshal Tito summoned Cankar home last week, at the height of the American Yugoslav dispute over the downing of two U. S. planes, Cankar said his return was prompted by Greek monarchist press attacks on Tito and the Yugoslav government.

Diplomatic repatriations between Greece and Yugoslavia have not been severed. The Ukraine has charged Greece before the United Nations Security Council with "endangering peace in the Balkans."

The impending visit of the U. S. naval force in Greek waters recalled the earlier American action of sending home the body of the late Turkish ambassador to Washington on the big battleship Missouri—a trip which coincided

V.A. Will Have Forms For Amputee Cars Soon

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—Forms which amputee veterans will use in applying for automobiles at government expense will be ready in about two weeks, the Veterans Administration said today.

The forms will be issued by V.A. contract representatives and field offices. The price of a car must not exceed $1,600, including special attachments and taxes. The veteran cannot buy a more costly one and pay the difference, V.A. ruled.

After going through the preliminary steps, an eligible veteran may buy from any dealer he chooses. The dealer will be reimbursed by the V.A. Congress appropriated $30,000,000 for the purpose.

building material needed to complete them." Dewey specifically protested the priority granted the Federal Public Housing Administration for wall board, cast iron pipe, shower stalls, gas ranges and sheet metal.

Sources close to the governor, meanwhile, disclosed that the state had begun construction work at Sampson, near Geneva, only last week, on an entry-permit basis.

The state obtained the permit August 12, these sources said, but had not received final release of the installation.

The governor was described by these sources as impatient over delays at Sampson and Rhoads, which are scheduled to open in mid-October but reportedly was satisfied with progress at Plattsburgh, due to open September 15.

The state is converting the three former military and naval installations into two-year emergency colleges.

Steelman Reports Shortage of Cars Threatens Nation

Crops and Factory Output Put Strain on U. S. System; 8 Agencies Study Problem

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—The government marshaled the powers of eight agencies today to deal with a freight car shortage officially termed one of the worst blocks in the road back to a normal peacetime economy.

Reconversion Director John R. Steelman said the struggle to move record crops and mounting factory output had developed "a threatening transportation crisis."

He warned that failure to solve the problem could have "grave consequences" for the reconversion program in the next few months.

In a statement from his White House office last night, the reconversion chief called on the agencies for "prompt and vigorous action" to relieve a situation which finds the railroads carrying more freight than before the war with one-third fewer cars. He outlined a seven-point program.

Quickly, the Civilian Production Administration—one of the eight—let it be known it stands ready to use its potent priorities power if that step is needed to help break the transportation bottleneck.

A C.P.A. official said priorities to channel lumber and steel to shortage-hit freight car builders and repair shops could be issued, although he expressed belief that "the job can be done without them."

Steelman said 40,000 new cars are needed this year and that 80,000 old ones are in urgent need of repair to get them rolling again.

Will Jit Million

J. Monroe Johnson, Office of Defense Transportation director, said that by mid-October carloading demands will hit 1,000,000 weekly—fully 75,000 above the maximum figure the railroads will be able to fill.

Topping Steelman's list of suggested remedies is a proposal that as much freight as possible be diverted to water carriers—both coastal and inland.

Otherwise, the reconversion director proposed that O.P.A. grant price relief to shippers whose transportation costs rise through diversion to water hauls.

The State Department urged swift placement of foreign orders for freight cars to be manufactured next year in order to encourage manufacturers to speed output of current orders for domestic delivery.

O.D.T. and the Agriculture Department try jointly to (a) break bottlenecks in the flow of perishable foods and in the movement of grain and coal for export and (b) speed the shipment of supplies to west coast and midwestern canneries.

O.D.T. stress the need for a six-day week among shippers and receivers in order to speed the turnaround time of freight cars and: "Tighten its regulations to make certain that all freight car space is utilized."

In addition to the state and agriculture departments, O.P.A., C.P.A. and O.D.T., Steelman also called for aid from the Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration and the National Housing Agency.

erect a new edifice in which to hold services.

Other Hearings Held
The laws and rules committee last night had a full calendar and in addition to the petition of the Emanuel Baptist Church, the committee held three other public hearings on petitions to amend the zoning ordinance.

None of the petitions was opposed, and it is expected that the committee will submit favorable reports on all four petitions.

The first hearing of the evening was on the petition of Donald Moore to have his property at 118-120 Grand street changed from residential to business zone.

The petition said it was desired to erect a two front single story building of brick veneer on the property, and to conduct therein a store for the sale of paints and other merchandise.

To Cut Stencils
The petition of Edward F. and Agnes M. Brown was to have the property at 30 Pine street removed from the residential to a business zone.

According to the petition it is desired to use the property for the purpose of cutting stencils which are to be used in addressing mail and other literature for business houses.

Alderman Eugene Cornwell, in whose ward the property is located, was present at the hearing and urged that the petition be granted.

To Open Tea Room
The last petition heard was that of Miss Mary C. Butler who desired to have her property at 99 Andrew street removed from the residential and placed in a business zone.

Miss Butler informed the committee that if her petition was granted she planned to open a tea room in the house, using the ground floor for each purpose.

The members of the laws and rules committee, who were present at the hearings, are Alderman Peter F. Simpson, chairman; and Aldermen James Carroll, John J. Schwenk and Paul A. Zucca.

The World Today

By GLENN BABB
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

The unwelcome spotlight swings now across the clamorous world stage and focuses on Greece. The unhappy little country where much of western civilization was born and which stands now an almost isolated bulwark against the spread of another culture from the east appears destined to be, for the next few days at least, the center of the storm.

No other land is so surely caught in the vise of world power politics. The imminent departure of the Russian ambassador as an expression of the Greek government's displeasure with the Greek government and its policies is the latest and most menacing aspect of the terrible pressures the Soviet bloc is exerting.

British troops stand on guard in Greece. An American fleet is en route to Greek waters for a "courtesy visit." Here now is the main center of contention of the great powers.

Already Greece has been for several days in the midst of the brawling at Paris. She has fought bitterly against her Soviet-backed neighbors, Albania and Bulgaria, in the Paris Peace Conference, opposing the admission of the former to the peace table, battling against the territorial claims of the latter. She has heard herself arraigned as a menace to international peace by another member of the Soviet bloc, the Ukraine.

Today the United Nations Security Council in New York, the second great world forum begins a series of discussions that bid fair to be the most acrimonious of that organization's brief and stormy history and Greece will be in the middle. She will be on the offensive in opposing the admission of Albania to the United Nations and has taken the unusual step of asking a seat at the council table for that purpose. She will be on the defensive, with stout support from Britain, certainly, and probably from the United States—against the Soviet-inspired charges against her government and the role Britain is playing in her recovery from the war.

Sunday Is Election Day

Sunday marks another step in Greece's troubled progress: That day Greeks will vote in a plebiscite to decide whether King

George II shall return to Athens from his exile in London. The result of that contest is pretty much a foregone conclusion. Opponents of the monarchy chiefly the Communist and Republican Left, declare in advance that they expect the king to win because the election will be rigged. A Monarchist government is in power in Athens; soldiers of monarchist Britain help maintain order. The postwar conflict between Right and left has been so bloody and bitter that there is little chance for truly democratic processes to take effect. The king probably will be restored and the fight between Right and Left continue, with Russia and her satellites on the little kingdom's borders continuing their pressure. Both Albania and Bulgaria are demanding slices of Greek territory which, if given up, would further advance the Russia thrust to the Mediterranean.

Greece is one of the most unfortunate pawns in the conflict between the Western powers and Russia. She and Turkey occupy unenviable positions in the patch of Russia's glacier-like advance toward the war water. Greece, moreover, is the only country in southeastern Europe in which the Western powers—more particularly Britain—retain a military and political foothold.

At this juncture an American fleet is moving toward Greek waters. Four days after Sunday's plebiscite the big Aircraft Carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, a cruiser and three destroyers enter Salonika. It may be of course, that this is just coincidental, a courtesy visit in the course of a voyage of training and good will, as the official announcements have it. But Moscow will never believe in such a coincidence, nor will many others. The visit will be taken as further evidence of American determination to prevent the Soviet power from engulfing the Middle East, a determination already given official expression in Washington's note to Moscow opposing Russian domination of the Balkans. The United States has assumed a new role in world affairs and although she hopes her purposes can be achieved through the medium of the United Nations she will use other tactics as well.

Geologists say coal has been in the making for perhaps 300,000,000 years.

Scout Drive Chairmen Are Picked for Finance Campaign

Ward chairmen who will assist in the Boy Scout finance campaign starting in Kingston on September 9 were announced today by Walter Caunitz, finance chairman for the Kingston District.

Caunitz, who is chairman of the Boy Scout Council, which services the Boy Scout program for boys in this area, makes a public appeal for funds to carry on the work each year in September. The appeal is stated to be particularly important this year since the largest number of boys in the history of the Council are now enrolled in scouting. The Council is also undertaking the project of completely developing a campsite at East Javett which was purchased last year.

Teams are being recruited in the various wards of the city by the following group of well-known public spirited citizens:

Wards, chairmen:
1st—John B. Loughran
2nd—Marion Radcliff
3rd—Stanley Petro and Joseph Hoffman
4th—Charles H. Smith
5th—Mrs. William Sinsabaugh
6th—Irving Bell and Herbert Silber
7th—Walter Riggins
8th—Bernard A. Culliton
9th—Mrs. Winfield Lynn and Mrs. Vere Nestle
10th—Schuyler C. Schultz
11th—Mrs. Samuel Gally
12th—Lawrence J. MacAvery
13th—Mrs. Clarence VanDe-mark

Town of Ulster—Harold Finkle Stone Ridge—Kenneth Davenport
Rosendale—John Mooney
Chairman Caunitz stated that he is particularly pleased at the enthusiasm displayed by Kingston citizens in helping to back up the campaign.

"Everyone seems to realize the value to boyhood and to the community resulting from the 'daily good turns' to which each Scout pledges himself upon joining the movement. Most Kingstonians have discovered that adults, too, can profitably copy the youngsters in this respect," said Mr. Caunitz.

"I believe, too, that most folks appreciate the fact that over five hundred adults serve boyhood in these two counties each and every week throughout each year in a volunteer capacity," continued Mr. Caunitz, "and many others who cannot spare that amount of time feel that the least they can do for the citizens of tomorrow is to give a week of their time in fund solicitation during the annual drive."

"Many persons who visited the Scout camp this summer during the camping period have realized the potentialities of this program after the camp has been completely equipped. Most of them feel this matter should receive a top post-war community priority. With such sentiment, I am entirely confident that our campaign will again be oversubscribed," concluded Mr. Caunitz.

Hatch Would Have House Terms Four Instead of 2 Years

Senator Says He Will Introduce Measure Next January on Change

Washington, Aug. 23 (AP)—Senator Hatch (D-NM) said today he has enlisted the backing of several colleagues for a proposed constitutional amendment to set House terms at four instead of two years. The New Mexico Senator told a reporter he plans to introduce legislation next January proposing the change in an effort to minimize the division of responsibility that arises when one or both Houses of Congress are controlled by a political party not represented in the White House.

"When the people vote for a change in party control of Congress," Hatch said, "they are entitled to have a change in the control of the government at the same time. I think that one of the worst things that can happen to the country is to have one party represented in the White House and the other controlling one or both Houses of Congress."

As an example of the divided responsibility, Hatch said he thought Woodrow Wilson's efforts to obtain a satisfactory peace treaty at Versailles had been "hampered" because the Republicans won control of the House before the then President left for Paris.

Similarly, he said he felt it would have been better for the House to have remained Republican during the last two years of former President Hoover's term. The Democrats organized the House in 1931 when deaths among the Republicans gave them numerical control.

Hatch said his proposed amendment would call for election of House members each four years while a President is being chosen. He did not, however, propose any change in the six-year Senate terms, which are filled by the election of one-third of the Senate each two years.

Noting that this still would leave the possibility of a divided Congress, even if one party won both the Presidency and the House, the New Mexico Senator commented that for practical purposes the voters would be unlikely to hold

Hansen Signed for Brooklyn Dodger Juniors Game Next Week

Local Fans Await Poughkeepsie-Rec Contest Saturday Night

Tulacz to Oppose Hoffman's Club In ArcLight Tilt

Overflow Crowd Expected at First of Two Games; Downer and Whitesell in Visiting Lineup

Hudson Valley's biggest baseball rivalry of the 1946 season—the long-awaited Kingston Recreation and Poughkeepsie Rec Movers clash—will get its first billing at municipal stadium Saturday night before an expected overflow crowd of rabid diamond rooters.

The second game of the series is slated for Memorial Field, Poughkeepsie, Sunday afternoon, September 15.

After weeks of negotiations between the two clubs a full agreement was reached about a week ago when Bill Leuschner, booking agent in New York, intervened and brought the two parties together.

Favorite Stars Coming
Three Kingston favorite ball players of other teams—Eddie Downer, John "Whitey" Tulacz and possibly Dick Whitesell—will be here with the Rec Movers Saturday night to do battle with Manager Joe Hoffman's Recreation Club. Downer and Tulacz are slated for starting assignments. Whitesell, who played his last game for Poughkeepsie last Sunday, may come down from Syracuse University where he's attending football practices.

Poughkeepsie's meal ticket, "Whitey" Tulacz, will open on the mound for the visiting Bridge City nine in Saturday's great arc-light clash. The veteran right-hander racked up another victory last Sunday when he pitched Poughkeepsie to a 7 to 1 victory over the New York Oaks. Tulacz gave up two hits in that tilt. Tulacz has been the main flinger for Manager Bill Whalen's club all year long.

Earlier in the year "Whitey" flung a 3 to 1 victory over the Dexter Park Bushwicks as the Poughkeepsie club turned back Sam Nahem, former Brooklyn Dodger moundsman.

Will Divide Services
Billy Ostrom, a regular of the Rec Mover squad, will divide his services in this two game series. "The Kid" will perform with the Recs in Saturday's after-dark tilt and will then wear the Poughkeepsie livery during the September 15 afternoon contest.

Poughkeepsie will come into Saturday's game with almost a similar record that the Recreationists have tacked up for the 1946 season. Manager Hoffman's semipro have won 14, lost six and tied one while the Rec Movers have registered 15 triumphs against four setbacks and two ties.

Although one or two Poughkeepsie positions may be changed by game time Manager Bill Whalen is expected to open up with Gus Zeis on first, Vinnie Crawford at second, Nick Maglio on third and "Red" Schlusseringer at short. Poughkeepsie's outfield will have Dick Whitesell in left, Ernie Downer in center and Joe Zeis in right. Gun is supplanting Ostrom who usually covers in that pasture for the Movers. Lou Sigloch will handle the backstop duties for Tulacz.

Manager Hoffman has selected Dick Fitzgerald, the team right-hander, for the mound job against Poughkeepsie. The Fortham athlete has a record of eight wins and three setbacks for the year at the stadium and so far represents Kingston's best hill representation. Dick's last chore was against the City League All-Stars last week when he pitched the first seven innings before giving way to Bill Thomas who mopped up.

May Be Last Game
Saturday's night attraction may be the last one of the season for the Recreationists, according to a number of local club committee-men.

Physicists believe that the sun will continue to give off heat and light for about 50 billion years.

WKNY Wins Championship
WKNY, rolling a neat 2971 triple, won the three-way rolloff at the Central Rec alleys Monday night to take top honors in the Summer Classic League. Jones finished in second with 2871, and Connies wound up in third with a total of 2702.

The Daumens, with Hod Spaulding leading the way, smashed an opener of 1026 to lead after the first game but WKNY bounced back in the middle fray with a 1061. Cliff Quick's 246 solo sparked the winners in that game.

Cliff Quick, Herb Van Deusen, Dick Howard, John MacLellan and Harold Broward formed the winning combination in Monday's rolloff.

Following are the scores as released by John MacLellan, secretary: Official averages of the league will be found in a later edition of The Freeman.

Freeman Summer League
Team 4 reared itself Tuesday night in The Freeman Summer Bowling League and proceeded to deal a deadly blow to Team 3's chances of coping the championship by smashing out a three game victory. Lodged in last place 10 games behind the present leaders.

Team 4 showed little respect for the pace-setters as Tom LaPolt fashioned a 519 triple to lead the attack. LaPolt's scores were 202, 160 and 157. Andy Campbell joined in with a 201 solo in his final game. Jack Hartman, anchor, posted 496 for Team 3.

Team 2, meanwhile, took advantage of Team 3's distress and went out to capture a pair of decisions from Team 1 in the other match. Roland Post again was the hatchet man with his mighty 611, three-timer on sizzling scores of 202, 185 and 227. Dick Pearson picked up a 402 solo for Team 1.

Eight Fillies Are Scheduled Today For $10,000 Purse

Miss Grillo Will Carry 124 Pounds; Chrysler Steed Captures Dominant

Saratoga Springs, Aug. 28 (AP)—Eight fillies were scheduled to start today in the $10,000 added Diana Handicap, feature event of the midweek racing program at Saratoga.

Top impost of 124 pounds for the eighth running of the mile and a furlong test has been assigned to Miss Grillo, an Argentine filly who will carry the Mill River Stable colors of Mrs. Barclay Douglas.

Two sets of couplings will be among the opponents of the South American invader. The Belair stud's Foxglove and Segula will get in under 104 pounds, while C. V. Whitney will start Recce, under 112, and Axiom, at 106.

Other probable starters are Harry Lamontagne's Sicily, 119; Joseph Dushock's Mahmoudess, 113, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Jackkawe, 104.

Walter P. Chrysler's Brabancon captured the $4,000 Dominant Purse which headlined yesterday's Saratoga program, winning by a nose in a photo finish involving three eligibles for Saturday's Hopeful Stakes.

A. J. Sackett's Johnny Dimick finished second, a head in front of C. V. Whitney's favored Phalanx. Milk Pact, the second choice, lost the show by a length and a half, with Transair a distant last.

Ridden by Conn McCreary, Brabancon stepped the six furlongs in 1:11 flat and returned $13.30 for $2 while ringing up his fourth triumph in 17 starts.

A crowd of 12,403 fans witnessed the day's racing and wagered a total of $787,077.

After a good start, Transair and Johnny Dimick began a head and head duel for command, with Brabancon following slightly more than a length away and Milk Pact a like margin ahead of Phalanx.

Johnny Dimick gave heart to the smart money bettors when he opened up three lengths advantage around the bend as Transair retired. Brabancon and Milk Pact were closest in pursuit when the new swing around the home corner.

In the thrilling drive to the wire, Johnny Dimick's lead gradually narrowed as Brabancon and the fast closing Phalanx drew up in menacing fashion and Milk Pact hoisted the distress signal.

The camera had to make the decision in the three-way final issue. P. A. B. Widener's Happy C took the $1,000 Brablin Purse, second best race on the card, speeding the six furlongs in 1:10 1/5 and paying $5.10. Manupur was second and Indique third.

E.N.G.A. Tourney Scheduled Friday At Upstate Course
The 18-hole medal play tournament of the Eastern New York Association, originally scheduled for the Troy Country Club today, will take place Friday due to the women's championship tourney now in progress.

In addition to Friday's tourney, three more one-day events are on the E.N.G.A. schedule and are as follows: September 4, Shaker Ridge C. C., Loudonville; September 11, Normanside C. C., Elmira; and September 18, McGregor Links, Saratoga Springs.

Field Is Complete
New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—The starting field of 150 for the national amateur golf championships at Springfield, N. J., September 9-14, was complete today.

Ranked 915 by qualifying trials throughout the 48 states and Hawaii, A. 119 was the best effort at New York's Winged Foot Club, where Ray Ballou of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., twice a national finalist, barely made the grade with a 155.

Kingston boxing fans and those from various sections of the Hudson valley, who cheered throughout the last card promoted by Benai Brith, have another ring treat in store for Thursday night, September 5, at the municipal auditorium, according to the lineup of four "main" scraps arranged by B. M. Becker of Albany, who will ring theistic programs.

Baseball Reforms Hit No Snags at Chicago Parley

Chicago, Aug. 28 (AP)—After day-long meetings yesterday at which owners studied drafts of major league baseball player demands, Ford Frick and Will Harridge, presidents of the National and American Leagues, respectively, indicated proposed reforms would be acceptable. They agreed the discussions did not hit any snags.

The four basic charges suggested by the players include a minimum salary of approximately $5,000, a player pension fund, spring training incidental expenses, and modification of the 10-day release clause. Also suggested was extension of the barnstorming season, now limited to 10 days.

At today's joint meeting, the two leagues are expected to come to an agreement concerning the changes. Then as soon as possible, the steering committee of the majors and the players' committee of six, three from each league, will meet to ratify the restyled document.

The two leagues went into separate conferences yesterday after a joint meeting called in the morning by Commissioner A. B. Chandler at which Chairman Larry MacPhail of the major league policy committee outlined the players' demands.

The American Leaguers met with their players' committee, which included Johnny Murphy of the New York Yankees, Joe Kuhel of the Chicago White Sox, and Mel Harder of the Cleveland Indians. Frick said the National League's player policy group did not appear, apparently because "the progress of negotiations so far has been agreeable."

The national player trio includes shortstop Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals and outfielders Dixie Walker of Brooklyn, whose teams met yesterday at St. Louis, and Billy Herman of the Boston Braves.

The proposal which MacPhail outlined at yesterday's joint conference came out of a meeting in New York on August 5 between the two leagues' executives.

The players' committee was organized here last night for their game with the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night. Coach Ray Flaherty arranged to quarter the squad in Pasadena, and scheduled a morning workout at nearby Brookside Park.

Yanks Are in Los Angeles
Los Angeles, Aug. 28 (AP)—Fresh from their 21-14 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers Saturday at Spokane, the New York Yankees flew here last night for their game with the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night. Coach Ray Flaherty arranged to quarter the squad in Pasadena, and scheduled a morning workout at nearby Brookside Park.

The Poughkeepsie bantamweight who copped the decision the last time out is paired with Percy Wilson of New York City. Decker, Schermerhorn boxing manager, is paired with Bill Rogers, another metropolitan scrapper with a good ring record.

Other matches on the bill are Tony Burrone, Schermerhorn welterweight sensation vs. Ike Jenkins of New York and Jimmy Marlo, Albany, vs. Bill Rogers, one of the best 145-pounders in the Metropolitan A.A.U.

SCOREBOARD

By JACK HAND (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Failure of the St. Louis Cardinals to capture their final home series from Brooklyn has assured National League fans of a dog-eat-dog pennant scrap down to the final wire with the schedule favoring the Dodgers.

When Manager Leo Durocher took his Brooks on their last tour of the west he said he would be satisfied if his club could split even on the road. So far, the relentless Dodgers have won five of nine games, and although they have lost their 1 1/2 game lead, they still are tied for first place.

Once back at Ebbets Field, the Brooklynites will have a tremendous advantage for there they won 42 and lost 15. While they are playing 20 of their last 32 tilts in friendly territory, the Cardinals must play 18 of their 32 on the road.

Eddie Dyer's Red Birds had a chance to put the crusher on the Yankees yesterday as a win would have put them two full games ahead. Instead the Brooks rocked Harry Brecheen, Ted Wilks, Fred Schmidt and Red Barrett for 16 hits and a 7-3 victory. Kirby Higbe was the winner.

Chicago warmed up for a visit from their old Dodger sparring mates by squeezing past New York, 2-1. Bob Chipman, lifted for a pinch hitter, received credit for the victory over Johnny Gee.

Boston furthered its third place ambitions by wallopping Pittsburgh, 9-1, as rookie Warren Spahn spun his seventh victory since his discharge from the army.

Detroit finished its season's business at the Yankee Stadium by edging out New York, 7-6, in 10 innings, thus slicing the Yankees' second place margin to three games.

Jess Flores earned his fourth straight victory as Philadelphia made it seven wins in its last eight starts, downing Chicago, 5-2. Flores allowed only seven hits in outpitching lefty Ed Smith.

The St. Louis Browns had to work hard for a 4-2 verdict over Washington although they pounded Ed Hudson for 13 hits and the Senators collected only four off Sam Zoladak.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati in the National and Boston and Cleveland in the American were not scheduled.

Central Valley Acc Is Great Prospect For Major Leagues

Bill Kaufman Also Slated to Appear With K.A.A.-Backed Hudson Valley All-Star Club

Bullet Bob Hansen, sensational young pitcher from Central Valley, has been secured to play with the Hudson Valley Juniors in next Tuesday night's big game with the Brooklyn Dodgers Juniors at municipal stadium, President Tommy Davitt announced at a meeting of the Kingston Athletic Association Tuesday evening at the Elks Club.

"Hansen has a great record and should be able to hold his own with the crack Brooklyn team," Davitt said. A few weeks ago the Central Valley youth spent 10 days at Ebbets Field with the Brooklyn Dodgers and served as a batting practice hurler.

Scouts Are Interested
Right now about six or seven big league scouts are after Hansen to sign contracts but it is figured that Brooklyn has the upper hand. No doubt A. B. "Turk" Karam, Dodger scout, will give the youngster another close watching next Tuesday night.

Hansen's great overall record with Central Valley this year has stamped him as one of the greatest prospects of the Hudson Valley. The young moundsman registered two no-hitters this past spring and also tossed a one-hitter against Newburgh Free Academy in another contest. One of his no-hitters, coming in the last game of the season against Tuxedo, clinched the Orange County Village championship for Central Valley.

The Central Valley flinger finished the school year with a record of eight victories in nine starts and in those nine games struck out 134 and gave up only 14 hits. He allowed 13 walks and had 11 runs scored against him.

In addition to Hansen, the player committee of the K.A.A. has signed Bill Kaufman, another great pitching prospect from Saugerties to be with the club next Tuesday night in the big arc-light game here. Either Hansen or Kaufman are expected to do the starting hurling.

Tickets Go on Sale
At Tuesday's session of the Kingston Athletic Association, Davitt, with the help of his ticket committee, passed out the pasted boards to every member of the club and judging from early reports the sale will be large.

"There's a lot of interest in this game," President Davitt announced. "and I believe the advanced ticket sale will be heavy. Every member of the organization has a good supply and we expect to have additional ducats at various business establishments throughout the city within a day or so."

In addition to the expected hard fought baseball game between the "cream of the crop" of Hudson Valley and the Brooklyn Dodger Juniors, recent winners of the "Brooklyn Against the World" series at Ebbets Field, three outstanding players of the New York Yankees will be here in town as the personal guests of Fred Davitt who recently spent a few days in the metropolitan area making sure that the celebrated stars would be here for the occasion.

When asked by a member last night if the K.A.A. was standing the expense of the three Yankees coming—Joe DiMaggio, George Sturtevant and Tommy Henrich—President Davitt said "Mr. Fred Davi is bringing those stars here at his own expense." The K.A.A.

Little Expects Big Football Season

More and Tougher Players Will Give Colleges New Getaway

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—Columbia's Lou Little, one of football's serious thinkers, believes the 1946 college season will be the greatest yet because:

With returned servicemen there will be 30 per cent more manpower, both in numbers and ability.

The game will be more rugged than in 1945 because the players will be older and tougher;

More teams will use spectacular offenses; and

Advance sales indicate the largest gate receipts colleges have known.

Little, who is chairman of the National Football Coaches' Association, says: "And 1947 will be even better, because the squads will be shaken down and the game for a couple of years in service will be back in form. Furthermore there may be changes in the rules that will make for more interest."

"Specifically, colleges may liberalize the substitution rule so that at all times teams can present the highest possible efficiency on offense and defense."

"Then there are fumbles. Once I was in favor of free fumble recovery and advancing. Now I've changed my mind. To encourage fumbles (Lou borrowed that phrase from baseball to describe lateral passes) it may be that we should not have a fumbled lateral recovered by the defensive team."

Says Game Is Advanced
Little, whose undergraduate days at Pennsylvania coincided with the first World War, believes the game now is much more advanced.

"Why, when I was a lineman all we heard was 'charge fast, and faster.' Now if a guard or tackle did that he would wind up in his best girl's lap." Backfield play is so intricate now that a blind, quick charge helps the offensive team.

Little points out that in the seasons immediately after the first World War, with ex-servicemen back, play was harder.

Pointing out that with a wealth of material available everywhere some unknown teams are bound to come to the top, Little hazarded this guess as to the nation's collegiate leaders:

East—Army, Pennsylvania, Holy Cross, Yale, Cornell, Columbia ("we're improved, but so is everyone else").

Midwest—Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Notre Dame.

South—Alabama, Georgia, LSU, Texas, Rice.

West—Southern California, UCLA.

Ray Is Favorite

Brooklyn, Aug. 28 (AP)—Elmer "Lefty" Ray of Hastings, Fla., is a 5 to 2 favorite to whip the veteran Lee Savard of Paterson, N. J., tonight in a 10-round heavyweight feature at Ebbets Field. Promoter Bill Johnson, making a serious bid for recognition, predicts a crowd of 20,000 fans and a gross of $50,000 for his fifth show.

The betting is 6 to 5 that Savard won't go the route.

Castillon vs. Greco

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—Dave Castillon of Quebec puts his Canadian welterweight championship on the line against Johnny Greco and the odds are two to one that the veteran Montreal fighter will lift the crown.

Castillon has campaigned with great success in the U. S. and Canada in New York's Madison Square Garden, will outweigh the champion of ten pounds—144 to 140.

The early days of Pennsylvania's heavy belts were used for money.

Grunenwalds Play Centrals Tonight At Uptown Stadium

Victory for Bakers Will Clinch First Place in City League; Fisher Slated to Hurl

Manager Ed Murphy's Grunenwald Bakers can clinch first place honors in the City Baseball League tonight in their regularly scheduled meeting with the New York Centrals. A win for the Bakers will give them the title regardless of what Jones Dairy does in the remaining games.

Manager Murphy is expected to send his ace righthander, Tommy Fisher, to the mound in an effort to grab the decision and assure the championship. Bill "Pucker" Davis may be the mound starter for the Centrals.

Although the Grunenwalds may clinch the bunting with a victory tonight, the Shaughnessy playoffs are still scheduled to take place after the regulation league games are finished for the first four clubs. These games will be announced later.

Maroon Gridders Drill Labor Day At Uptown Stadium

Coach Will Burke Calls First Practice of His Eleven; 2 P.M. Starting Time

The first call for football practice of the Kingston High School squad was sounded by Coach Will Burke Tuesday when he announced that his gridders would hold their initial workout at municipal stadium Labor Day at 2 o'clock.

"The date of our opening game is approaching very fast," Coach Burke said, "and we'll have to get busy and find out just what material there is to work with."

Outside of some names on paper Coach Burke has little in mind as to the make-up of this year's Maroon and White eleven. The former Highland gridiron boss is making his first stab at bringing the local school out of the football doldrums which has encircled K.H.S. teams in the past few years.

Response to the call for uniforms at the high school has been satisfactory, Burke told "The Freeman" last night. "Apparently a lot of the fellows want to get out early and show me their wares," Burke added. "They'll get that chance Monday afternoon and from then on until the end of the campaign."

Kingston High is scheduled to open its 1946 season at municipal stadium Friday night, September 20, by playing host to Haverstraw.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Aug. 27—Miss Eva Packard of Kansas City, Dina Downing DuBois and Jesse E. DuBois of Jackson Heights, are spending two weeks with Mrs. Loretta E. DuBois at the old Elmer house on Huguenot street. The representatives of the National Geographic Magazine, who have been in Kingston gathering material for the Hudson river area, visited Huguenot street here. They interviewed Iver Evers and took pictures of the interior of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodman of Pawtucket, R. I., visited Mrs. Loretta DuBois during the week. Mrs. Loretta DuBois is the wife of the late E. DuBois, who was a member of the N.S.V. Club on Tuesday afternoon.

Chester Elliott of Plutarch had the misfortune to lose one of the horses from his finely matched team.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Roberts are the parents of a daughter, born August 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Deyo of Brooklyn were guests of his mother, Mrs. Perry Deyo, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bogert were given a rousing skimming following their return from their wedding trip last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Abel Quick have been entertaining his brother, William Quick of Accord. On August 18 they also entertained his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Craig of Kingston, the occasion being a dinner celebrating Mrs. Craig's 81st birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sherman and daughter, Zoe, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Warren Tamney.

Mr. and Mrs. James Van Keuren of Kingston were week-end guests

To the Public — and Especially Veterans!

You're still waiting for that new home — and we'd like to supply the materials today. But there is still far too little to meet the needs. It takes a lot of materials to build a home and the manufacturers, who have troubles of their own, can't keep our lumber yard filled with the things we require. We sincerely hope that before long conditions will be different — in the meantime see us and PLAN ahead — we'll gladly help!

In spring and fall, Electresteam tides you over the cold snaps, when otherwise you'd use your central heating plant. In colder weather, Electresteam serves as a heat booster in the room you're using, enabling you to keep the rest of the house at a lower temperature. In milder climates, Electresteam radiators are ideal as the sole heating plant!

As sure as a bolt will light, you can get safe, healthful steam heat with an Electresteam radiator.
